

Carl Hanratty Dialogue PART ONE

(interrupting Frank Jr) For the love of-Enough! Folks, listen, by the time this guy was 20 years old, he had stolen more than one-point-eight million dollars. He's a con man, plain and simple. Has been since the age of 16, when he bilked twenty grand from his father's Mobil card to buy presents for girls. When he got caught, his only excuse was, "I like girls." Tell the folks how "I like girls" becomes "I'm wanted on five continents." Your ability to pull myth from manure is truly impressive.

Carl Hanratty Dialogue PART TWO

(on the phone to Frank Jr) Wait a minute. You didn't call to apologize, did you? You've got no one else to talk to. (Frank goes to hang up) Frank! Wait!... Frank? Sooner or later you'll get tired of running - and I won't get tired of chasing you. (beat) Look out the window? (Hanratty sees Frank Jr by the phone booth. Frank Jr waves gently and runs off into the night) (to himself) He's a kid. (to audience) He's a kid.